

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a method for making an organic luminescent device, a first electrode is formed on a substrate by applying a DC voltage to the first electrode without generation of plasma. An organic layer is formed on the first electrode. Furthermore, a second electrode is formed on the organic layer. The resulting organic layer exhibits improved charge injection from the anode and the organic luminescent device exhibits significantly high luminance.